Humanism

Before studying the fourth chapter of Deuteronomy, we need to understand Humanism. Most people have been led to believe that Humanism is a non-religious system of thought or action based on nature, dignity, and the ideals of man. Being “secular” Humanism is presented as being compatible with, or at least not in conflict with Christianity. It is looked upon as somewhat of a separation of church and state situation. To learn about Humanism, we need to read The Humanist Manifestos I and II. It is available at your public library. That way we can learn directly from the founders and present day leadership. The first manifesto is dated 1933 and the second 1973.

A “manifesto” is a public declaration setting forth a set of common principles that serve as a basis for united action. Humanists do not speak or write in plain English. Humanists use many code words. For example, Christianity is never mentioned by name. You will not find the word Christian or Christianity anywhere in the book. Rather they use these words:

In Manifesto I:

“orthodox and dogmatic positions,”
“archaic dogmas and ideologies”
“old attitudes involved in worship and prayer”
“traditional attitudes”
“old beliefs”, unreal hopes and wishful thinking

In Manifesto II:

“traditional theism,” “intolerant attitudes”
“an unproven and out moded faith,”
“puritanical cultures”
“traditional moral codes,” “narrow views”
“false theologies of hope and messianic ideologies”
“traditional dogmatic or authoritarian religions”

Humanist Manifestos I and II,
Signed by Andrei Sakharov, B.F. Skinner, Betty Friedan, Sir Julian Huxley, and other distinguished leaders of thought and action, Humanist Manifestos I and II cite recommendations for the future of mankind in the areas of religion and ethics, civil liberties and democracy, and humanist views on the meaning of life. Only 31 pages.
As an example, here is a complete paragraph from the Preface of the second manifesto:

As in 1933, humanists still believe that traditional theism, especially faith in the prayer hearing God, assumed to love and care for persons, to hear and understand their prayers, and to be able to do something about them, is an unproved and outmoded faith. Salvationism, based on mere affirmation, still appears as harmful, diverting people with false hopes of heaven hereafter. Reasonable minds look to other means for survival.

When you read, put your ‘thinking cap’ on. For example; notice that they did not say, faith in a prayer hearing God, they said faith in the prayer hearing God. This manifesto is not an attack on religion in general or ‘gods’ in general. It is an attack on ‘the’ prayer hearing God and on the religion of His followers. We expect to show from the Humanist Manifesto that:

1. Humanism is a religion.
2. The Humanist religion is the exact opposite of Christianity.
3. Humanism is at war with Christianity.

The complete 31 page Humanist Manifesto booklet contains a Preface to the first Manifesto. Here is the first sentence under the heading Preface.

“Humanism is a philosophical, religious, and moral point of view as old as human civilization itself.”

Humanist calls itself a moral point of view. Some Christians have objected to Humanist viewpoints. More often than not the Humanists loudly admonish the Christian with separation of church and state, and we don’t believe that anyone has the right to impose their morals on others. Notice the hypocrisy in their rebuke. Humanism calls itself a moral point of view.

All law is moral in nature. Here we have reproduced page one of a zoning law. It is “moral law.”

When Humanists write the zoning laws, they “regulate the use of structures” by outlawing in-home Bible studies.

Do you want a local zoning resolution based upon Humanism or Christianity?

In The Humanist Manifesto I we find fifteen doctrines.

“First: Religious humanists regard the universe as self existing and not created.”

Genesis 3:1, “Now the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field which the Lord God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?”

Genesis 1:1, “In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.”

ZONING RESOLUTION
SULLIVAN TOWNSHIP, ASHLAND COUNTY, OHIO

Whereas the trustees of the Township of Sullivan, Ashland County, Ohio, under the authority granted them in Chapter 519 of the Ohio Revised Code, deem it necessary to promote the public health, safety, morals, comfort and general welfare to regulate the size, location and the use of structures; the size and location of yards and other open spaces in relation to buildings; and to carry out the comprehensive planning for the Township; the districts and the regulations of this Zoning Resolution are hereby created and established and shall hereafter apply.

This Resolution shall be known as the Sullivan Township Zoning Resolution and may be referred to as the Zoning Resolution.

The first doctrine of the Humanist religion is Evolution as opposed to the Christian doctrine of Creation. In reality, the Evolution/Creation argument in the schools is a religious argument between these two religions. However, to deceive, the Humanists deny that it is a religious argument. They say evolution is scientific but creation is religious.

| Genesis 1:27, “So God created man in his [own] image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them | “Second: Humanism believes that man is a part of nature and that he has emerged as a result of a continuous process.” |

This second doctrine of Humanism holds that man has evolved contrary to the Christian doctrine that man was created by God.

The third doctrine holds that man does not have a soul. Here is how they put it, “Holding an organic view of life, humanists find that the traditional dualism of mind and body must be rejected.” Humanists don’t use plain English. They use the word traditional in reference to Christianity. It is Christians that have traditionally believed that man is body and soul. Humanists believe that man is just another form of animal life.

The fifth doctrine denies any divine standard of right and wrong. Quoting their words, “Humanism asserts that the nature of the universe depicted by modern science makes unacceptable any supernatural or cosmic guarantees of human values.”

Every time a Christian speaks out on a moral or political issue, Humanists loudly, cry out, “Separation of Church and State.” Now, hold on to your hat, Humanism does not believe in “separation of church and state.” Here is the seventh doctrine of Secular Humanism. Quoting from page 9 of The Humanist Manifesto I:

“Seventh: Religion consists of those actions, purposes, and experiences which are humanly significant. Nothing human is alien to the religious. It includes labor, art, science, philosophy, love, friendship, recreation, all that is in its degree expressive of intelligently satisfying human living. The distinction between the sacred and the secular can no longer be maintained.”

Did you catch that? They said, “Nothing human is alien to the religious.” Also, they said, “The distinction between the sacred and the secular can no longer be maintained.” What does that mean? Well, in plain English they said, “there can be no separation between church and state.” (It is important that we understand that Humanists sometimes use the word “church” to mean religion, and at other times they use “church” to mean Christianity.) So, now you know, when a Humanist calls for “separation of church and state” he does not mean “separation of the Humanist Religion from the state,” rather he means, “separation of Christianity” from the state. Actually, they are trying to undo that our nation’s founding fathers accomplished in the American Revolution.

| Matthew 10:28, “And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell.” | “The glory of the American Revolution is this: it connected in one indissoluble bond the principles of civil government with the principles of Christianity.” John Quincy Adams July 4, 1821 |

“Thirteenth: Religious humanism maintains that all associations and institutions exist for the fulfillment of human life. The intelligent evaluation, transformation, control, and direction of such associations and institutions with a view to the enhancement of human life is the purpose and program of humanism. Certainly religious institutions, their ritualistic forms, ecclesiastical methods, and communal activities must be reconstituted as rapidly as experience allows, in order to function effectively in the modern world.”
Notice the word “control” in Doctrine thirteen. For clarification, we will rephrase sentences one and two. They said, “The control and direction of all associations is the purpose and program of humanism.” They said the institutions to be controlled and directed include religious institutions. “Religious institutions” include Christian Churches, schools, universities, seminaries, etc.

Reread the thirteenth doctrine of Humanism. The Humanists believe that they must “reconstitute” Christianity “as rapidly as experience allows.” Since the first manifesto was written in 1933, this “reconstituting” must have been in process for over 50 years! Notice that one of the signers is R. Lester Mondale, the brother of Walter Mondale a presidential candidate in 1984. Notice also the name John Dewey. (1859 - 1952) John Dewey pioneered the educational methods used in the nation’s classrooms. (In addition, Dewey’s books influenced the rise of the progressive education movement.) (In Humanist Manifesto II this “reconstituting” is called “redefinitions” and “reinterpreting.”) For example, to change a Bible teaching, they would not change the Bible, rather they would change the understanding of a verse or change the definition of a word in the verse. In a later lesson we will see how the word “usury” has been redefined and Luke 19 reinterpreted.

Doctrine Fourteen calls for the replacement of the American free enterprise system with socialism. Here is how they play their word game in this doctrine:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>English</th>
<th>Humanist double-talk</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>“free enterprise system”</td>
<td>“existing acquisitive and profit motivated society”</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>“Socialism”</td>
<td>A socialized and cooperative economic order and “equitable distribution”</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

With this double-talk they lay the foundation for criticism of you and your character. If you are for American Free Enterprise they come back with, “You are greedy! Christians should not covet.” If you are against socialism they cry, “You are un-cooperative and selfish. Christians should share and share alike.” They use our own teachings against us.

We have looked at seven of the fifteen doctrines of Humanism as listed in the Humanist Manifesto I. In summary the doctrines are:

1. No Creator. The universe is self existing.
2. Evolution not creation.
3. Man does not have a soul, he is an animal.
4. No divine standard of right and wrong.
5. Humanism is to be the State religion.
6. Humanist control and direction of all associations and institutions.
7. Replacement of the American free enterprise system with socialism.

The Humanist Manifesto II

Forty years later, in 1973, Humanist Manifesto II appeared. In the preface Christianity is referred to as “an unproved and outmoded faith.” This second manifesto lists seventeen additional doctrines of Humanism. The first additional doctrine is four paragraphs long. In the second paragraph, after rejecting Christianity, we find that they are atheists. But, as they do not use plain English, the wording is, “As non-theists, we begin with humans not God The Bible word for “non-theist” is “ungodly.””

In the second paragraph we find them saying, “humanists believe we should reinterpret traditional regions and reinvest them with meanings appropriate to the current situation.” In Manifesto I,
Doctrine Thirteen it was said, (religious institutions) must be reconstituted as rapidly as experience allows. How is this Humanist reinterpreting, reinvestment and reconstituting of Christian institutions to be accomplished? The answer, in part, is in the preface where it is written. “Many within religious groups, believing in the future of humanism, now claim humanist credentials.”

Here we have the “ungodly” feeling that it is their duty to “reinterpret,” “reinvest” and “reconstitute” Christianity. How would they do this? In plain English, the Bible tells us.

In The Humanist Manifesto II it is acknowledged that many Humanists are within religious groups. Could they be a part of a conspiracy as mentioned in questions 27 - 29? (Page 3) In the fourth paragraph they say, “But we can discover no divine purpose or providence for the human specie . . . No deity will save us, we must save ourselves.”

“Doctrine Six: Here we discover that, not only do Humanists reject Christian standards, but that they are behind gay rights, birth control, abortion and sex education in public schools. Finally we discover that education in these areas is called moral education.” Here is doctrine six as found in The Humanist Manifesto II:

Acts 4:12 Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved.

Sixth: In the area of sexuality, we believe that intolerant attitudes, often cultivated by orthodox religions and puritanical cultures, unduly repress conduct. The right to birth control, abortion, and divorce should be recognized. While we do not believe in the exploitive, denigrating forms of sexual expression, neither do we wish to prohibit, by law or social sanction, sexual behavior between consenting adults. The many varieties of sexual exploration should not in themselves be considered “evil.” Without countenancing mindless permissiveness or unbridled promiscuity, a civilized society should be a tolerant one. Short of harming others or compelling them to do likewise, individuals should be permitted to express their sexual proclivities and pursue their life-styles as they desire. We wish to cultivate the development of responsible attitudes toward sexuality, in which humans are not exploited as sexual objects, and in which intimacy, sensitivity, respect, and honesty in interpersonal relations are encouraged. Moral education for children and adults is an important way of developing awareness and sexual maturity.

To make it difficult for Christians and the general public to catch on to the real meaning of Humanist writing they avoid plain English. In the first sentence of doctrine #6, the words intolerant attitudes, orthodox religions and puritanical cultures mean Christianity. So in plain English they said, “In areas of sexuality, Christianity is intolerant and unduly represses sexual conduct saying, thou shalt not commit adultery.” The last sentence could be restated as, “Humanist sex education for children and adults is an important way to develop sexual promiscuity.”

Any Christian who dares suggest a Christian influence in the public schools is shouted down with, “Who are you to impose your moral standards on us?,” and the battle cry, “separation of church and state.” Yet these humanist hypocrites call “sex education” “moral education.” They are freely imposing their moral standards on our nation’s children in our public schools. To add insult to injury they fund this activity with taxpayer money.

Doctrine Nine: In the ninth doctrine of the Humanist Manifesto II, we find these interesting words, “The separation of church and state and the separation of ideology and state are imperatives.”
The seventh doctrine of the first Humanist Manifesto seems to contradict this ninth doctrine of the second manifesto. But, there is no contradiction if, in this case, you understand Humanist code words. In doctrine nine by church they mean “Christianity.” So, they are saying “Separation of Christianity and the state are imperatives.” And this makes sense. If Christian standards were put into effect by government, all Humanist progress would come to a sudden halt. In summary;

Manifesto I, Doctrine 7. Humanism is to be united with the state.
Manifesto II, Doctrine 9. Christianity is to be separated from the state.

Doctrine Eleven: Here is Doctrine Eleven exactly as found in The Humanist Manifesto II:

Moral Equality

Eleventh: The principle of moral equality must be furthered through the elimination of all discrimination based upon race, religion, sex, or national origin. This means equality of opportunity and recognition of talent and merit. Individuals should be encouraged to contribute to their own betterment. If unable, then society should provide the means to satisfy their basic economic, health, and cultural needs, including, whatever resources make possible, a minimum guaranteed annual income. We are concerned for the welfare of the aged, the infirm, the disadvantaged, and also for the outcasts - the mentally retarded, abandoned or abused children, the handicapped, prisoners, and addicts - for all who are neglected or ignored by society. Practicing humanists should make it their vocation to humanize personal relations.

We believe in the right to universal education. Everyone has a right to the cultural opportunity to fulfill his or her unique capacities and talents. The schools should foster satisfying and productive living. They should be open at all levels to any and all; the achievement of excellence should be encouraged. Innovative and experimental forms of education are to be welcomed. The energy and idealism of the young deserve to be appreciated and channeled to constructive purposes.

We deplore racial, religious, ethnic, or class antagonisms. Although we believe in cultural diversity and encourage racial and ethnic pride, we eject separations which promote alienation and set people and groups against each other; we envision an integrated community where people have a maximum opportunity for free and voluntary association.

We are critical of sexism or sexual chauvinism - male or female. We believe in equal rights for both men and women to fulfill their unique careers and potentialities as they see fit, free of invidious discrimination.

What do Humanists mean by “moral equality?” Well, they mean that all religions and all gods are equal. That your opinion as to what’s moral is as good as any other opinion. Does the God of the Christian Bible agree with that or does His first commandment forbid moral equality? In all points Humanism is the exact opposite of Christianity.

Humanism

Universe is self-existing

Man evolved

Man is an animal.

Humanist thought is to regulate life.

All institutions based upon humanism.

Socialism.

We must save ourselves.

Many equal gods

Racial integration and inter-marriage O.K.

Christianity

Universe is created.

Man was created.

Man is body and soul.

God's word is to regulate life.

All institutions based upon God’s word.

Free enterprise.

Christ will save us.

One God

Racial integration & inter-marriage O.K.
While Humanists and “main stream” Christians disagree on many points, when it comes to Doctrine eleven, there appears to be agreement. When these ideas are presented from the pulpit, T.V. movies, and talk shows they sound pretty good. Opposition is shouted down. Many laws have been passed enforcing these moral standards. All newspapers, T.V. programs and radio talk shows display reverence for the ideas put forth in Doctrine Eleven. With Doctrine Eleven, have Humanism and Christianity found common ground?

If you disagree by trying to practice free and voluntary disassociation, by refusing to rent an apartment in your home to a person with A.I.D.S. or by trying to set up a segregated church school you could go to jail. The grounds for saying that one race is superior or inferior to any other race. We are all made in the image of God, and Christ came to “purchase men for God from every tribe and language and people and nation” (Revelation 5:9).

The most important thing you can do for your son, however, is to pray for him and encourage him to seek God’s will for his life — including his marriage. Is he a Christian; has he turned to Christ for forgiveness, and is he seeking to follow Christ? If not, pray that he will put Christ first in his life. And if he has, remind him that God’s will is for him to marry a woman who is also a believer.

United States government is even trying to compel this Eleventh Doctrine on the nation of South Africa. America may even go to war with South Africa to enforce morality. With few exceptions you would be hard pressed to find anyone to disagree (in public) with the ideas put forth in Doctrine Eleven. The government is in the process of passing “hate law” legislation to enforce “love” as defined by Doctrine Eleven.

Doctor Graham said these three things in his article:

1. Dr. Graham said, “The Bible does not prohibit interracial marriage or say a person must only marry from his own racial or ethnic group.”

2. Dr. Graham said, “Moses married a woman from another ethnic group.” (Some say Moses married a Black since Moses’ wife was a Cushite.) Graham’s conclusion is, that if Moses did it then it’s O.K. Who Moses married is the subject of a later lesson. Moses had more than one wife. Moses was divorced from the Cushite. Her name was Adoniah. Stay tuned for details.

3. Dr. Graham said, “The bible gives no grounds for saying that one race is superior or inferior to any other race.”

Now notice that Dr. Graham associated any prohibition of interracial marriage with a belief in racial superiority/inferiority. This association leads immediately to the “words that kill,” hater, racist, and bigot.

What we Christians need to do is to avoid jumping to conclusions and avoid assuming that people are saying things they do not say, So, when this lesson talks of interracial marriage do not jump to conclusions that this lesson is saying things that are not being said. This lesson does NOT teach superiority or inferiority.

Does the Bible agree with Doctrine Eleven of Humanism? Is it Bible, or have certain men crept in unawares speaking perverse things by redefining and reinterpreting the Bible? You will have to see for yourself. Let’s start in Leviticus 20: (King James Version)

(31) Leviticus 20:24 reads, . . . . I am the Lord your God, which have ________________ you from other people.

(32) Exodus 33:16 reads, so shall we be ________________ I and thy people from __ __ __ the people that are upon the face of the earth.

(33) In Deuteronomy 32:8 who separated the sons of Adam?

(34) In Leviticus 20:24 and Exodus 33:16, who separated the Israelites from all other peoples?

(35) In Exodus 11:7 we read, that ye might know that the Lord doth put a ________________ between the Egyptian and Israel.

(36) Who made the American Eskimo different from the American Indian?

DEHUMANIZATION - Words That Give Permission to Murder

When one nation goes to war against another, the leaders find that the average citizen has little desire to take the life of the enemy. So the propagandists dehumanize the enemy. In WW2 the Germans were dehumanized with slang such as Huns, Jerry, Krauts and Nazis. In the Pacific we were at war, not with the Japanese but with the Nips. In Vietnam no soldier shot a Vietnamese, but he did shoot “Gooks.”

That dehumanization is why the Blacks rightly object to words like “nigger” and the Jews object to “kike.”

Today Liberals and Humanists have new words that kill. Liberals label opposition to their ways with words like, Neo-Nazi, bigot, hater, racist and so on. Using “words that kill” is a violation of God’s commandment, Thou shalt not kill.

Christians should always treat others with respect avoiding any dehumanization of anyone with words.

Ezra 10

(1) Now when Ezra had prayed, and when he had confessed, weeping and casting himself down before the house of God, there assembled unto him out of Israel a very great congregation of men and women and children: for the people wept very sore.

(2) And Shechaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, answered and said unto Ezra, We have trespassed against our God, and have taken strange wives of the people of the land: yet now there is hope in Israel concerning this thing.

(3) Now therefore let us make a covenant with our God to put away all of the wives, and such as are born of them, according to the counsel of my lord, and of those that tremble at the commandment of our God: and let it be done according to the law.

(4) Arise: for this matter belongeth unto thee: we also will be with thee: be of good courage, and do it.

(5) Then arose Ezra, and made the chief priests, the Levites, and all Israel, to swear that they should do according to this word. And they sware.

(6) Then Ezra rose up from before the house of God, and went into the chamber of Johanan the son of Eliashib: and (when) he came thither, he did eat no bread, nor drink water, for he mourned because of the transgression of them that had been carried away.

(7) And they made proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem unto all the children of the captivity, that they should gather themselves together unto Jerusalem;

(8) And that whosoever would not come within three days, according to the counsel of the princes and the elders, all his substance should be forfeited, and himself separated from the congregation of those that had been carried away.

(9) Then all the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered themselves together unto Jerusalem within three days. It was the ninth month, on the twentieth day of the month; and all the people sat in the street of the house of God, trembling because of this matter, and for the great rain.

(10) And Ezra the priest stood up, and said unto them, Ye have transgressed, and have taken strange wives, to increase the trespass of Israel.

(11) Now therefore make confession unto the Lord God of your fathers, and do his pleasure: and separate yourselves from the people of the land, and from the strange wives.

(12) Then all the congregation answered and said with a loud voice, As thou hast said, so must we do.

(13) But the people (are) many, and it is a time of much rain, and we are not able to stand without, neither is this a work of one day or two: for we are many that have transgressed in this thing.

(14) Let now our rulers of all the congregation stand, and let all them which have taken strange wives in our cities come at appointed times, and with them the elders of every city, and the judges thereof, until the fierce wrath of our God for this matter be turned from us.

(15) Only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahaziah the son of Tikvah were employed about this matter and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite helped them.

(16) And the children of the captivity did so. And Ezra the priest, with certain chief of the fathers, after the house of their fathers, and all of them by (their) names, were separated, and sat down in the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter.

(17) And they made an end with all the men that had taken strange wives by the first day of the first month.

(18) And among the sons of the priests there were found that had taken strange wives: (namely), of the sons of Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and his brethren; Maaseiah, and Eliezer, and Jarib, and Gedaliah.

(19) And they gave their hands that they would put away their wives; and being guilty, they offered a ram of the flock for their trespass.

In Ezra 10:3, the solution was reached “according to the law.” The process took over three months. (Verse 9 and 16) In this situation:

A. The violation of God’s Law was brought to the nation’s attention.

B. The people (both Israelites and ‘strangers’ i.e., the ‘minorities’) repented of their sin and made a decision.

(45) That decision is in Ezra 10:12. That decision was:

( ) a. All that the Lord has said we will do.

( ) b. To pass a human rights legislation forbidding tax-exempt status to any 501-C3 incorporated church teaching or practicing segregation.

If you are a Pastor then you probably have a copy of “Josephus.” If so, then also then read “Against Apion,” Book 1, Section 7 and “Antiquities” Book 11, Chapter 3, Section 10.

For the benefit of students, on the next page we have reproduced page 295 from our copy of Josephus. Josephus was a historian, highly respected by both Christians and Jews. He lived about 2,000 years ago.
under the conduct of Esdras; and he succeeded in them, because God esteemed him worthy of the success of his conduct, on account of his goodness and righteousness. (140) But some time afterward there came some persons to him, and brought an accusation against certain of the multitude, and of the priests and Levites, who had transgressed their settlement, and dissolved the laws of their country, by marrying strange wives, and had brought the family of the priests into confusion. (141) These persons desired him to support, the laws, lest God should take up a general anger against them all, and reduce them to a calamitous condition again. Hereupon he rent his garment immediately, out of grief, and pulled off the hair of his head and beard, and cast himself upon the ground, because this crime had reached the principal men among the people; (142) and considering that if he should enjoin them to cast out their wives, and the children they had by them, he should not be hearkened to, he continued lying upon the ground. However, all the better sort came running to him, who also themselves wept, and partook of the grief he was under for what had been done. (143) So Esdras rose up from the ground, and stretched out his hands towards Heaven, and said that he was ashamed to look towards it, because of the sins which the people had committed while they had cast out of their memories what their fathers had undergone on account of their wickedness; (144) and he besought God, who had saved a seed and a remnant out of the calamity and captivity they had been in, and had restored them again to Jerusalem, and to their own land, and had obliged the king of Persia to have compassion on them, that he would also forgive them their sins they had now committed, which, though they deserved death, yet, was it agreeable to the mercy of God, to remit even to these the punishment due to them.

4. (145) After Esdras had said this, he left off praying; and when all those that came to him with their wives and children were under lamentation, one, whose name was Jechonias, a principal man in Jerusalem, came to him, and said, that they had sinned in marrying strange wives; and he persuaded him to adjure them all to cast those wives out, and the children born of them; and that those should be punished who would not obey the law. (146) So Esdras hearkened to this advice, and made the heads of the priests, and of the Levites, and of the Israelites, swear that they would put away those wives, and the children which were born of them; and in order to appease God, they offered sacrifices, and slew rams, as the Hebrews, is called "Tebeth," and according to the Macedonians, "Apelleius." (149) Now as they were sitting in the upper room of the temple, where the elders also were present, but were uneasy because of the cold, Esdras stood up and accused them, and told them that they had sinned in marrying wives that were not of their own nation; but that now they would do a thing both pleasing to God and advantageous to themselves, if they would put those wives away. (150) Accordingly, they all cried out that they would do so. That, however, the multitude was great, and that the season of the year was winter, and that this work would require more than one or two days; "Let their rulers, therefore [said they], and those that have married strange wives, come hither at a proper time, while the elders of every place, that are in common, to estimate the number of those that have thus married, are to be there also." (151) Accordingly, this was resolved on by them; and they began the inquiry after those that had married strange wives on the first day of the tenth month, and continued the inquiry to the first day of the next month, and found a great many of the posterity of Jeshua the high priest, and of the priests and Levites, and Israelites, (152) who had a greater regard to the observation of the law than to their natural affection, and immediately cast out their wives, and the children which were born of them; and in order to appease God, they offered sacrifices, and slew rams, as oblations to him; but it does not seem to me to be necessary to set down the names of these men. (153) So when Esdras had reformed this sin about the marriages of the forementioned persons, he reduced that practice to purity, so that it continued in that state for the time to come.

5. (154) Now when they kept the feast of tabernacles in the seventh month, and almost all the...

King Solomon
On the next page we have reproduced page 226 from JOSEPHUS'S Antiquities Of The Jews. Please read the next page before answering the following questions.

According to Josephus, when Solomon integrated his household, what was the result with regard to The Law of Moses?

( ) a. Solomon transgressed the laws of Moses, which forbade them to marry any but those who were of their own people.

( ) b. Solomon was given the Desmond Tutu Peace Prize for ending apartheid in South Israel.

When one nation integrates with another, what does the majority have to do to prove that they are not 'racists', or 'bigots' etc.? (Hint: On the next page what did Josephus say King Solomon was forced to do to please his strange wives?)

The Antiquities of the Jews
(Book 8, Chapter 7)

out of the city in the morning. There was a certain place, about fifty furlongs distant from Jerusalem, which is called Etham, very pleasant it is in fine gardens, and abounding in rivulets of water; a thither he did use to go out in the morning, sitting on high [in his chariot].
4. (187) Now Solomon had a divine sagacity in all things, and was very diligent and studious to have things done after an elegant manner; so he did not neglect the care of the ways, but he laid a causeway of black stone along the roads that led to Jerusalem, which was the royal city, both to render them easy for travellers, and to manifest the grandeur of his riches and government. (188) He also parted his chariots, and set them in a regular order, that a certain number of them should be in every city, still keeping a few about him; and those cities he called the cities of his chariots; and the king made silver as plentiful in Jerusalem as the stones on the street; and so multiplied cedar trees in the plains of Judea, which did not grow there before, that they were like to the multitude of common sycamore trees. (189) He also ordained the Egyptian merchants that brought him their merchandise, to sell him a chariot, with a pair of horses, for six hundred drachmae of silver, and he sent them to the kings of Syria, and to those kings that were beyond the Euphrates.
5. (190) But although Solomon was become the most glorious of kings, and the best beloved by God, and had exceeded in wisdom and riches those that had been rulers of the Hebrews before him, yet did not he persevere in this happy state till he died. Nay, he forsook the observation of the laws of his father, and came to an end no way suitable to our foregoing history of him. (191) He grew mad in his love of women, and laid no restraint on himself in his lusts; nor was he satisfied with the women of his country alone, but he married many wives out of foreign nations: Sidonians, and Tyrians, and Ammonites, and Edomites; and he transgressed the laws of Moses, which forbade Jews to marry any but those that were of their own people. (192) He also began to worship their gods, which he did in order to the gratification of his wives, and out of his affection for them. This very thing our legislator suspected, and so admonished us beforehand, that we should not marry women of other countries; lest we should be entangled with foreign customs, and apostatize from our own; lest we should leave off to honor our own God, and should worship their gods. (193) But Solomon was fallen headlong into unreasonable pleasures, and regarded not those admonitions; for when he had married seven hundred wives, b the daughters of princes, and of eminent persons, and three hundred concubines, and these besides the king of Egypt’s daughter, he soon was governed by them, till he came to imitate their practices. He was forced to give them this demonstration of his kindness and affection to them, to live according to the laws of their countries. (194) And as he grew into years, and his reason became weaker by length of time, it was not sufficient to recall to his mind the institutions of his own country; so he still more and more condemned his own God, and continued to regard the gods that his marriages had introduced; (195) nay, before this happened, he sinned, and fell into an error about the observation of the laws, when he made the images of brazen oxen that supported the brazen sea, c and the images of lions about his own throne; for these he made, although it was not agreeable to piety so to do; (196) and this he did, notwithstanding that he had his father as a most excellent and domestic pattern of virtue, and knew what a glorious character he had left behind him, because of his piety towards God; nor did he imitate David, although God had twice appeared to him, in his sleep, and exhorted him to imitate his father; so he died ingloriously. (197) There came therefore a prophet to him, who was sent by God, and told him that his wicked actions were not concealed from God: and threatened him that he should not long rejoice in what he had done; that indeed the kingdom should not be taken from him while he was alive, because God had a Whether these fine gardens and rivulets of Etham, about six miles from Jerusalem, whither Solomon rode so often in state, be not those alluded to. Ecc. 2:5-6; where he says, “He made him gardens and orchards, and planted trees in them of all kinds of fruits; he made him pools of water, to water the wood that bringeth forth trees;” and to the finest part whereof he seems to allude, when, in the Canticles, he reproves his spouse to a “garden enclosed,” to a “spring shut up to a fountain sealed.” 4:12 (part of which fountains are still extant, as Mr. Maundrell informs us, pp. 87-88), cannot now be certainly determined, but may very probably be conjectured. But whether this Etham has any relation to those rivers of Etham, which Providence once dried up in a miraculous manner, Ps. 74:15. in the Septuagint. I cannot say.

b These 700 wives, or the daughters of great men, and the 300 concubines, the daughters of the ignoble, make 1000 in all; and are. I suppose, those very 1000 women intimated elsewhere by Solomon himself, when he speaks of his not having found one [good] woman among that very number, Ecc. 7:28.

c Josephus is here certainly too severe upon Solomon, who, in making the cherubims and these twelve brazen oxen, seems to have done no more than imitate the patterns left him by David; which were all given David by divine inspiration. See my description of the temples, ch.10; and although God gave no direction for the lions that adorned his throne, yet does not Solomon seem therein to have broken any law of Moses; for although the Pharisees and latter Rabbis have extended the second commandment, to forbid the very making of any image, though without any intention to have it worshiped, yet do not I suppose that Solomon so understood it, nor that it ought to be so understood. The making any other altar for worship but that at the tabernacle, was equally forbidden by Moses, Antiq. 4.8.5; yet did not the two tribes and a half offend when they made an altar for a memorial only, Josh. 22; Antiq. 5.1.26-27.
(54) Henry Kissinger is:

( ) b. An American. ( ) d. All of the above.

The Answers to questions 52, 53 and 54: President Ronald Reagan is Caucasian by race. Sammy Davis, Jr. was Negro by race and Jewish by religion. Henry Kissinger was born in Germany, therefore, a German. However, Kissinger lives in America and holds American citizenship, therefore he is an American. But Kissinger is also Jewish by race and Jewish by religion. So, calling Moses an Egyptian, Moses’ wife an Ethiopian, or Ruth a Moabite may have little or nothing to do with race. Moses was an Israelite living in Egypt just as Ruth was an Israelite living in the land of Moab.

Inter-racial marriage is frequently justified by the claim that Moses married outside his race. They point out Numbers 12:1 where it says Moses married an Ethiopian woman. They claim Moses married a Negro. But could it have been to a person of the same race from Ethiopia? In Lesson 13 we will discover that the Ethiopian woman was not Moses’ present wife. Stay tuned for Lesson 13.

The Bible’s Book of Ruth is also mentioned in support of inter-racial marriage. The claim is that the book approves of an Israelite-Moabite marriage. Ruth was an ancestor of King David and, therefore, an ancestor of Jesus Christ. Ruth 1:1-5 and 4:13-22 say Ruth was a Moabite. Was Ruth a Moabite by race, by religion or by nationality? The answer is, Ruth was an Israelite (by race) just like David except that she lived in the land of Moab, therefore a Moabite (by nationality).

You should ponder the question: Why do so many know about these obscure, difficult Bible verses and, at the same time, very few know any of the many plain verses we have quoted on the same subject?

Before Continuing, Read All Of Deuteronomy Four
(Moses’ Second Speech Continued)

This is a long chapter so re-read the first four verses again and notice verses 3 and 4 about the incident at Baal-Peor. We need a good understanding of this event and we need to know why God destroyed a large number of people. For details read;

(1) Numbers 14:11-12, (2) Numbers 22 to 25, (3) Deuteronomy 7:1-6

King Balak of Moab wanted to destroy God’s people. King Balak feared that he could not defeat God’s people in battle. Therefore, he hired Balaam the prophet to curse Israel. However, Balaam could not place a curse on Israel. But, Balaam still coveted King Balak’s money. So, Rev. Balaam counseled King Balak to persuade or deceive Israel into sinning against their God. In doing so they would bring God’s anger upon themselves to their own hurt.

Numbers 31:16, “Behold, these caused the children of Israel, through the counsel of Balaam, to commit trespass against the Lord in the matter of Peor, and there was a plague among the congregation of the Lord.”

Revelation 2:14, “But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balac to cast a stumbling block before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed unto idols, and to commit fornication.”

2 Peter 2:12-19, “(12) But these, as natural brute beasts, made to be taken and destroyed, speak evil of the things that they understand not; and shall utterly perish in their own corruption; (13) And shall receive the reward of unrighteousness, (as) they that count it pleasure to riot in the day time. Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings while they feast with you; (14) Having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with covetous practices; cursed children: (15) Which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam (the son) of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness; (16) But was rebuked for his iniquity: the dumb ass speaking with man’s voice forbad the madness of the prophet. (17) These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved for ever. (18) For when they speak great swelling (words) of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, (through much) wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in error. (19) While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage.”
Joshua 10:13
And the sun stood still, and the moon stayed, until the people had avenged themselves upon their enemies. Is not this written in the book of Jasher? So the sun stood still in the book of Jasher? So the sun stood still in the midst of heaven, and hasted not to go down about a whole day.

Jasher, Chapter 71
71:1 And Moses was eighteen years old, he desired to see his father and mother and he went to them to Goshen, and when Moses had come near Goshen, he came to a place where the Children of Israel were engaged in work, and he observed their burdens, and he saw an Egyptian smiting one of his Hebrew brethren.

Chapter 72
72:21 At that time the war and the siege were against Cush, Moses fled from Egypt from Pharaoh who sought to kill him for having slain the Egyptian.
72:23 And Moses was nine years in the camp of Kikianus king of Cush.
72:29-36 (In these verses Kikianus dies and the people select Moses to be their new king.)
72:37 And all the people and nobles swore unto him (Moses) to give him for a wife Adoniah the queen, the Cushite, wife of Kikianus, and they made Moses king over them that day.

Chapter 73
73:32 And Moses feared the Lord God of his fathers, so he came not to her, nor did he turn his eyes to her.
73:33 For he remembered how Abraham had made his servant Eliezer swear, saying unto him, thou shall not take a woman from the daughters of Canaan for my son Isaac.
73:36 Therefore Moses turned not his heart nor his eyes to the wife of Kikianus all the days that he reigned over Cush.
73:37 And Moses feared the Lord his God all his life, and Moses walked before the Lord in truth, with all his heart and soul, he turned not from the right way all the days of his life; he declined not from the way all the days of his life, in which Abraham, Isaac and Jacob had walked.

Chapter 76
76:3 And in the fortieth year of the reign of Moses over Cush, Moses was sitting on the royal throne whilst Adoniah the queen was before him, and all the nobles were sitting around him.
76:4 And Adoniah the queen said before the king and princes, what is this thing which you, the children of Cush. have done for this long time?
76:5 Surely you know that for forty years that this man has reigned over Cush he has not approached me, nor has he served the gods of the children of Cush.
76:6 Now therefore hear, ye children of Cush, and let not this man more reign over you as he is not our flesh.
76:7 Behold Menacrus my son (by Kikianus) is grown up, let him reign over you, for it is better for you to serve the son of your lord, than to serve a stranger, a slave of the King of Egypt.
76:12 So Moses went forth from the land of Cush....and Moses was sixty six years old when he went out of the land of Cush, for the thing was from the Lord, for the period had arrived which he had appointed in the days of old. to bring forth Israel from the affliction of the children of Ham.
76:13 So Moses went to Midian, for he was afraid to return to Egypt on account of Pharaoh, and he went and sat at a well of water in Midian.

Exodus 2:11-15
(11) And it came to pass in those days. when Moses was grown, that he went out unto his brethren, and looked on their burdens: and he spied an Egyptian smiting an Hebrew, one of his brethren. (12) And he looked this way and that way, and when he saw that (there was) no man. he slew the Egyptian, and hid him in the sand. (13) And when he went out the second day, behold, two men of the Hebrews strove together: and he said to them that did the wrong. Wherefore smitest thou thy fellow? (14) And he said, Who made thee a prince and a judge over us? intendest thou to kill me, as thou killedst the Egyptian? And Moses feared, and said, Surely this thing is known. (15) Now when Pharaoh heard this thing, he sought to slay Moses. But Moses fled from the face of Pharaoh, and dwelt in the land of Midian: and he sat down by a well.

Exodus 2:16-21
(16) Now the priest of Midian had seven daughters: and they came and drew (water), and filled the troughs to water their father's flock. (17) And the shepherds came and drove them away: but Moses stood up and helped them. and watered their flock. (18) And when they came to Reuel their father, he said. How (is it that) ye are come so soon to day? (19) And they said, An Egyptian delivered us out of the hand of the shepherds, and also drew (water) enough for us. and watered their flock. (20) And he said unto his daughters, And where (is) he? why (is) it (that) ye have left the man? call him. that he may eat bread. (21) And Moses was content to dwell with the man: and he gave Moses Zipporah his daughter.
Ruth the “Moabitite”

The territory of the Moabites was originally east and north east of The Dead Sea. Moab’s borders extended from the Arnon river on the south to the Jabbok river on the north. From the Dead Sea and Jordan river on the west to the mountains on the east. It was called Moab after the people who once lived there. This land kept that name for many centuries even after all the Moabites were long gone from it.

The Moabites were destroyed by the Amorites: Here’s what happened. About 1450 B.C., the Moabites were conquered and driven from their land by Sihon, king of the Amorites. It’s in Numbers 21:26-29, “For Heshbon was the city of Sihon, the king of the Amorites, who had fought against the former king of Moab, and taken all his land out of his hand, even unto Arnon. (29) Woe to thee, Moab! thou art undone, O people of Chemosh: he hath given his sons that escaped, and his daughters, into captivity unto Sihon, king of the Amorites”.

The Amorites were destroyed by invading Israelites: The land of Moab, (now occupied by Amorites) was the first land conquered by the Israelites after leaving Egypt. It’s in Deuteronomy 2:32-34, “Then Sihon came out against us, he and all his people, to fight at Jahaz. (33) And the Lord our God delivered him before us; and we smote him, and his sons, and all his people. (34) And we took all his cities at that time, and utterly destroyed the men, and the women, and the little ones, of every city, we left none to remain:”

The war continues in Numbers 21:30-35, “We have shot at them; Heshbon is perished even unto Dibon, and we have laid them waste even unto Nophah, which reacheth unto Medeba. (31) Thus Israel dwelt in the land of the Amorites. (32) And Moses sent to spy out Jaazer, and they took the villages thereof, and drove out the Amorites that were there. (33) And they turned and went up by the way of Bashan: and Og the king of Bashan went out against them, he, and all his people, to the battle at Edrei. (34) And the Lord said unto Moses, Fear him not: for I have delivered him into thy hand, and all his people, and his land; and thou shalt do to him as thou didst unto Sihon, king of the Amorites, which dwelt at Heshbon. (35) So they smote him, and his sons, and all his people, until there was none left him alive: and they possessed his land”.

All the land of Moab was settled by the Israelite tribes of Reuben, Gad, and Manasseh. Here it is in Deuteronomy 3:12-16, “And this land, which we possessed at that time, from Aroer, which is by the river Arnon, and half mount Gilead, and the cities thereof, gave I unto the Reubenites and the Gadites. (13) And the rest of Gilead, and all Bashan, being the kingdom of Og, gave I unto the half tribe of Manasseh; all the region of Argob, with all Bashan, which was called the land of giants. (14) Jair, the son of Manasseh, took all the country of Argob unto the coasts of Geshuri and Maachath; and called them after his own name, Bashan-havothjair, unto this day. (15) And I gave Gilead unto Machir. (16) And unto the Reubenites and unto the Gadites I gave from Gilead even unto the river Arnon half the valley, and the border even unto the river Jabbok, which is the border of the children of Ammon;”

By 1450 B.C. All the land of Moab was Israel territory, in 1142 B.C. We have proof that, three hundred years later, the land of Moab was still Israel territory. The proof is in Judges 11:12-26, “And Jephthah (of Israel) sent messengers unto the king of the children of Ammon, saying, What hast thou to do with me, that thou art come against me to fight in my land? (13) And the king of the children of Ammon answered unto the messengers of Jephthah, Because Israel took away my land, when they came up out of Egypt, from Arnon even unto Jabbok, and unto Jordan: now therefore restore those lands again peaceably.”

Jephthah’s “No, The land of Moab has belonged to Israel for the past 300 years and you have no right to the land today” answer is in verses 14-26.

Ruth lived about 1322 B.C. That is right in he middle of this 300 year time of proven Israelite occupation of the land of Moab. In Ruth 1:1 we read, “Now it came to pass in the days when the judges ruled, that there was a famine in the land. And a certain man of Bethlehem judah went to sojourn in the country of Moab, he, and his wife, and his two sons.”

Note the accuracy of the Bible, not “among the people of Moab,” but “in the country of Moab.” This is like saying, “Ruth lived in Kansas.” The State of Kansas was named after a Siouan Indian tribe. In Ruth’s time the land of Moab was occupied exclusively by Israelites just as Kansas is now occupied, not by Indians, but by modern day Americans.

Ruth 1:22, “So Naomi returned, and Ruth the Moabitess, her daughter-in-law, with her, which returned out of the country of Moab: and they came to Bethlehem in the beginning of barley harvest.”

“Ruth the Moabitess” is like saying “Mary Jones the Californian” or “George Bush the Texan.” Indeed it could not have been otherwise. All the people in The Book of Ruth were Israelites. Long ago the Moabites had been exterminated by the Amorites. Then the Israelites drove out and exterminated the Amorites. The Israelites occupied the land of Moab for the next several centuries. So never let anyone tell you that Jesus Christ was only a mongrel or that The Book of Ruth justifies interracial marriage. Ruth was pure Israelite from the land of Moab, but not from the race of Moab.

In Ruth 4 there is an application of Israelite law to land inheritance. By Israel’s law, only Israelites could inherit another Israelite’s real estate. If Ruth were a racial Moabite, then she could have made no lawful claim on the land. It’s in Deuteronomy 21 and Numbers 27. You will find more about inheritance laws later lessons.
Lesson Three - Page 19

In most religious book stores in America you can purchase a book entitled JOSEPHUS - The Antiquities of the Jews. Joseph Ben Mattias (Josephus) was an historian. He lived from 37 A.D. to about 100 A.D. On the next 2 pages we have reproduced Book 4, Chapter 6, Sections 6-13. In our copy it is pages 111 and 112 of a 926 page book. So, please read Josephus account of The Incident at Baal-Peor.

(55) After reading all this, what do you think was going on in Numbers 25?

( ) a. The Israelites were integrating with people who were both of a different race and a different religion.
( ) b. The Israelites were integrating with people of a different race.
( ) c. The Israelites were coveting the daughters of Moab who were of the same race but worshiped another god.
( ) d. The wicked beguiled God's people, through the counsel of Balaam, to sin against the Lord bringing God's wrath upon His own people.

(56) Which of the above answers reflects the grand maxim found in the footnote ‘e’ on page 111 of Josephus account?

The footnote about “the grand maxim” mentions Judith 5:5-21. The Book of Judith is found in the Catholic versions of the Bible. Judith is not found in most of the modern Protestant Bibles. However, the 1611 edition of the King James does contain The Book of Judith. Here we reproduce Judith.

This Doctrine of Balaam is the basic plan of our enemy. They know that they do not have the power to destroy Christians, or destroy a Christian America. Therefore, knowing the Bible, they persuade Christians to do things that are abominable in God's eyes. The wicked hope that God will become angry and destroy us or deliver us into their hands.

great anger he summoned all the rulers of the Moabites, the generals of the Ammonites, and all the satraps of the seacoast 4 and said to them: "Now tell me, you Canaanites, what sort of people is this that dwells in the mountains? Which cities do they inhabit? How large is their army? In what does their power and strength consist? Who has set himself up as their king and the leader of their army? 4 Why have they refused to come out to meet me along with all the other inhabitants of the West?"

Achior’s Speech. Then Achior, the leader of all the Ammonites said to him: “My lord, hear this account from your servant: I will tell you the truth about this people that lives near you [that inhabits this mountain region]; no lie shall escape your servant's lips.

4 These people are descendants of the Chaldeans. They formerly dwelt in Mesopotamia, for they did not wish to follow the gods of their forefathers who were born in the land of the Chaldeans. Since they abandoned the way of their ancestors, and acknowledged with divine worship the God of heaven, their forefathers expelled them from the presence of their gods. So they fled to Mesopotamia and dwelt there a long time.

5 Their God bade them leave their abode and proceed to Canaan. Here they settled, and grew very rich in gold, silver, and a great abundance of livestock. 6* Their God bade them leave their abode and proceed to Canaan. Here they settled, and grew very rich in gold, silver, and a great abundance of livestock. 6* Their God bade them leave their abode and proceed to Canaan. Here they settled, and grew very rich in gold, silver, and a great abundance of livestock.

7* When the Israelites were driven by famine to the Jordan, they crossed Jordan, and took possession of the whole mountain region. 8 They expelled the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Shechemites, and all the Gergesites; and they lived in these mountains a long time.

9 As long as the Israelites did not sin in the sight of their God, they prospered: for their God, who hates wickedness, was with them. 10 But when they deviated from the way he prescribed for them, they were ground down steadily, more and more, by frequent wars, and finally taken as captives into foreign lands. The temple of their God was razed to the ground, and their cities were occupied by their enemies. "But now that they have returned to their God, they have come back from the Dispersion wherein they were scattered, and have repossessed Jerusalem, where their sanctuary is, and have settled again in the mountain region which was unoccupied.

10 So now, my lord and master, if these people are at fault, and are sinning against their God, and if we verify this offense of theirs, then we shall be able to go up and conquer them. 11 But if they are not a guilty nation, then your lord-ship should keep his distance: otherwise their Lord and God will shield them, and we shall become the laughing stock of the whole world."

11 Now when Achior had concluded his recommendation, all the people standing round about the tent murmured; and the officers of Holofernes and all the inhabitants of the seacoast and of Moab alike said he should be cut to pieces. 12 ‘We are not afraid of the Israelites,’ they said. ‘If they are a powerless pea-ple, incapable of a strong defense. M Let us therefore attack them; your great army. Lord Holofernes, will swallow them up.”

CHAPTER 6

Holofernes’ Answer. I When the noise of the crowd surrounding the council had subsided, Holofernes, commander-in-chief of the Assyrian army, said to Achior, in the presence of the whole throng of coast-land peoples, of the Moabites, and of the Ammonite mercenaries: 2 "Who are you, Achior, to prophesy among us as you have done today, and to tell us not to fight against the Israthose for a short time, whereby they may appear to be brought low, may still befall them; but after that they will flourish again, to the terror of those that brought those mischiefs upon them. (129) So that if you have a mind to gain a victory over them for a short space of time you will obtain it by following my directions: Do you therefore set out the handsomest of such of your daughters as are most eminent for beauty, and proper to force and con-quer the modesty of those that behold them, and these decked and trimmed to the highest degree you are able. Then do you send them to be near the Israelites' camp and give them in charge, that when the young men of the Hebrews desire their company, they allow it them; (130) and when they see that they are enamored of them, let them take their leaves; and if they entreat them to stay, let them not give their consent till they have persuaded them to leave off their obedience to their own laws and the worship of that God who established them, and to worship the gods of the Midianites and Moabites; for by this means God will be angry at them." Accordingly, when Balaam had suggested this counsel to them, he went his way.

7. (131) So when the Midianites had sent their daughters, as Balaam had exhorted them, the Hebrew young men were allured by their beauty, and came to discourse with them, and besought them not to grudge them the enjoyment of their beauty, nor to deny them their conversation. These daugh-ters of the Midianites received their words gladly, and consented to it and staid with them; (132) but when they had brought them to be enamored of them, and their inclinations to them were grown to ripeness, they began to think of departing from them: then it was that these men became greatly disconsolate at the women's departure, and they were urgent with them not to leave them, but begged they would continue there, and become their wives; and they promised them they should be owned as mistresses of all they had. (133) This they said with an oath, and called God for the ar-bitrator of what they promised; and this with tears in their eyes, and all other such marks of concern as might show how miser-able they thought them-selves without them, and so might move their compassion for them. So the women, as soon as they perceived they had made them their slaves, and had caught them with their conversation, began to speak thus to them: —

8. (134) "O you illustrious young men! we have houses of our own at home and great plenty of good things there, together with the natural affectionate love of our parents and friends; nor is it out of our want of any such things that we came to discourse with you; nor did we admit of your invitation with design to prostitute the beauty of our bodies for gain; but taking you for brave and worthy men, we agreed to your request, that we might treat you with such honors as hospitality required: (135) and now seeing you say that you have a great affection for us, and are troubled when you think we are departing, we are not averse to your entreaties; and if we may receive such assurance of your good will as we think can be alone sufficient, we will be glad to lead our lives with you as your wives; (136) but we are afraid that you will in time be weary of our company, and will then abuse us, and send us back to our parents, after an ignominious manner." And so they desired that they would excuse them in their guarding against that danger. But the young men professed they would give them any assurance they should desire; nor did they at all contradict what they requested, so great was the passion they had for them. (137) "If then," said they, "this be your resolution; since you make use of such customs and conduct of life as are entirely different from all other men, insomuch that your kinds of food are peculiar to yourselves, and your kinds of drink not common to others, it will be absolutely necessary if you would have us for your wives, that you make use of the same gods that we do. (138) For has anyone reason to complain, that now you are come into this country, you should worship the proper gods of the same country? especially while our gods are common to all men, and yours such as belong to nobody else but yourselves." So they said they must either come into such methods of divine worship as all others came into, or else they must look out for another world, wherein they may

d Such a large and distinct account of this perversion of the Israelites by the Midianite women, of which our other copies give us but short intima-tions (Num. 31:16; 2 Pet. 2:15; Jude 11; Rev. 2:14), is preserved, as Reland informs us, in the Samaritan Chronicle, in Philo, and in other writings of the Jews, as well as here by Josephus.

e This grand maxim. That God's people of Israel could never be hurt nor destroyed, but by drawing them to sin against God, appears to be true, by the entire history of that people, both in the Bible and in Josephus; and is often taken notice of in them both. See in particular a most remarkable Ammonite testimony to this purpose, Judith 5:5-21.

/* What Josephus here puts into the mouths of these Midianite women, who came to entice the Israelites to lewdness and idolatry, viz., that their wor-ship of the God of Israel, in opposition to their idol gods, implied their liv-ing according to the holy laws which the true God had given them by Moses, in opposition to those impure laws which were observed under their false gods, well deserves our consideration; and gives us a substantial rea-son for the great concern that was ever shown, under the law of Moses, to preserve the Israelites from idolatry, and in the worship of the true God; it being of no less consequence than, Whether God's people should be gov-erned by the holy laws of the true God, or by the impure laws derived from Demons, under the Pagan idolatry.*/ live by themselves, according to their own laws. 9. (139) Now the young men were induced by the fondness they had for these women, to think they spake very well; so they gave themselves up to what they persuaded them, and transgressed their own laws; and supposing there were many gods, and resolving that they would sacrifice to them according to the laws of that country which ordained them, they both were delighted with their strange food, and went on to do everything that the women would have them do, though in contradiction to their own laws; (140) so far, indeed, that this transgression was already gone through the whole army of the young men, and they fell into a sedition that was much worse than the former, and into danger of the entire abolition of their own institutions; for when once the youth had tasted of these strange customs, they went with insatiable inclinations into them; and even where some of the principal men were illustrious on account of the virtues of their fathers, they also were corrupted together with the rest. 10. (141) Even Zimri, the head of the tribe of Simeon, accompanied with Cozbi, a Midianitish woman, who was the daughter of Sur, a man of authority in that country; and being desired by his wife to disregard the laws of Moses, and to follow those she was used to, he complied with her; and this both by sacrificing after a manner different from his own, and by taking a stranger to wife. (142) When things were thus, Moses was afraid that matters should grow worse, and called the people to a congregation, but then accused nobody by name, as unwilling to drive those into despair who, by lying concealed, might come to repentance; (143) but he said that they did not do what was either worthy of themselves or of their fathers, by preferring pleasure to God, and to the living according to his will; that it was fit they should change their courses while their wisdom had not been first slain, which came to pass on the following occasion; — (150) Now when Zimri had said these things, about what he and some others had wickedly done the people held their peace, both out of fear of what might come upon them, and because they saw that their legislator was not willing to bring his insolence before the public any further, or openly to contend with him; (151) for he avoided that, lest many should imitate the impudence of his language, and thereby disturb the multitude. Upon this the assembly was dissolved. However, the mischievous attempt had proceeded further, if Zimri had not been first slain, which came to pass on the following occasion; — (152) Phineas, a man in other respects better than the rest of the young men, and also one that surpassed his contemporaries in the dignity of his father (for he was the son of Eleazar the high priest, and the grandson of [Aaron] Moses' brother), who was greatly troubled at what was done by Zimri, he resolved in earnest to inflict punishment on him, before his unworthy behavior should grow stronger by impunity, and in order to prevent this transgression from proceeding further, which would happen if the ringleaders were not punished. (153) He was of so great magnanimity, both in strength of mind and body, that when he undertook any very dangerous attempt, he did not leave it off till he overcame it, and got an entire victory. So he came into Zimri's tent, and slew him with his javelin, and with it he slew Cozbi also. (154) Upon which all those young men that had a regard to virtue, and aimed to do a glorious action, imitated Phineas's bold-
In Numbers 25, 24,000 people died of a plague. The possible reason for the plague is found in Leviticus 20:1-5. What could have been the reason then?

( ) a. Lack of sanitary conditions.

( ) b. The people of the land hid their eyes from wickedness.

In Ezra 9 and 10 the people were violating God’s Law. However, they repented and lawfully corrected the situation. Is there any mention of a civil punishment or a plague for the transgression?

( ) Yes. ( ) No.

In Numbers 22-25 the people violated God’s law presumptuously. Is there any mention of a punishment for the transgression? (Numbers 25:4-5)

( ) Yes. ( ) No.

What was the difference between the law breakers of Ezra 9-10 and the law breakers of Numbers 22-25? (See questions 60 and 61)

In Hebrews 12:29 Paul was quoting Deuteronomy 4:_____.

In Lesson 7 we will discover that, in some of Paul’s writings, 30% of the verses are quotations of the Old Testament. If we are unaware that Paul is quoting the Old Testament, and if we do not understand the portion of the Old Testament being quoted, then can we understand the books Paul wrote?

( ) Yes. ( ) No.

In Romans 15:4 the Apostle Paul said, “Now whatsoever things written aforetime were written for our learning.” In 1 Corinthians Paul referred to Israel history and said, “Now all these things (mentioned in verses 1-10) happened unto them for examples: and they were written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come.” So let’s look into “whatsoever things written aforetime” in the Old Testament. What examples do we have to benefit us today?

The Bible's Book of Judges lists about forty government administrations over God's people. Judges ruled over Israel after they came into the promised land of Palestine. Later Israel elected to have a king like the other nations. Study Judges chapter 3 and see if you find any similarity to the situation in America.

Acts 17:26

The Following is quoted from pages 200 and 201 of Whom God Has Joined Together By Pastor Dallas Jackson.

Acts 17:26-27, (26) And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation; (27) That they should seek the Lord, if haply they might feel after him, and find him, though he be not far from every one of us:

Isaiah 10:13, For he said, By the strength of my hand I have done it, and by my wisdom; for I am prudent: and I have removed the bounds of the people, and have robbed their treasures, and I have put down the inhabitants like a valiant man:"

Many people like to quote verse 26 which declares, And hath made of one blood all nations of men . . . in order to proclaim that all races of the earth are one. First of all I would like to point out that these scriptures have nothing whatsoever to do with miscegenation. Did the men of Athens call for Paul to teach them a Bible study about inter-racial marriages? No! Paul was stirred in his spirit when he saw the city given to idolatry (verse 16) and came to preach them the good news of the resurrection of Jesus Christ. Let's stick with the issue. Dr. Ruckman's comment:

"In 1958 in a city in Kentucky, a group of America's top religious personages met to discuss the problem of segregation and integration. They represented graduations of Protestant theology from Practical Atheism to fundamentalism. At this round table a remarkable thing happened which every Christian should note. Every man there who took the side of race-mixing as a Christian duty cited Acts 17:26 as a proof-text for his Christian conviction. Acts 17:26 was quoted again and again to show that Segregation was un-Christian. The text reads as follows: And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation; Not one man at that table quoted the verse as written!

"Every man that relied on it stopped at the word EARTH and dissected the verse as neatly as a Campbellite ever dissected 1 Peter 3:21! Think of it! With all the religious attainments and scholastic degrees and Christian profession represented at that meeting there was not a man there who dared to tell the people what the English Bible said! Most of the men who quoted it not only refused to finish the verse and the context but even rejected Alford's correct Greek reading, found in the King James, where it says BLOOD.

"This omission was so obvious among the liberals it was almost pitiful or embarrassing to watch. In order that the gullible masses might believe the Bible condoned making all nations one, the word Blood was carefully knocked out of the Greek text in the RSV and ASV, and the New English Bible. (The AV is much more accurate from the standpoint of science, as the only similarity between the races is the blood. Their physical characteristics, which differ, originate in the genes and chromosomes.) The most shocking thing about all this bushwacking in Kentucky was that the context of Acts 17:26 goes on to say that God's purpose in setting boundaries was so men could seek the Lord! (Acts 17:27) Those that remove the bounds are hindering God's work, not aiding it (Hosea 5:10). The passage, then, cited by these race-mixers is the very passage that condemns and rebukes them for violating the laws of nature and of God. Small wonder that none of them finished the passage!

(74) Finally, return to Deuteronomy 4:30 and notice the words, even in the latter days. Is the Book of Deuteronomy for us in these latter days, or is it, as the Humanists claim, an unproved and outmoded faith?

( )( ) Yes. The Book of Deuteronomy contains information for us today.

( )( ) No. The Book of Deuteronomy makes interesting reading but we are not subject to any higher authority. (Doctrine #5 of The Humanist Manifesto I.)
